SVTOS is a 501(c)(3) corporation dedicated to the preservation and presentation of Theatre Pipe Organs. Proudly supporting the Mighty Wurlitzer Theatre Pipe Organ at the Capitol Theatre in York, PA.

“Mark Anderson Live at the Capitol Theatre, York, PA”

About the Video: We take you on a video tour of the beautifully restored Wurlitzer hybrid organ in the Capitol Theater in York, PA. You get to see and hear this wonderful organ played by Mark Anderson and lovingly restored by Terry Nace, who takes you on a tour of the pipe chambers without leaving the comfort of your theatre seat or having to climb a ladder! Recorded in 2005. Runtime 54 minutes.

About Mark Anderson: Mark began his education at East Carolina University in North Carolina where he studied organ, harp, voice and carillon. His graduate studies carried him to Chicago and the American Conservatory and then on to a full scholarship at the Paris Conservatory where he studied organ with Marcel Dupre and composition with Nadia Boulanger. Mark served as one of four assistant organists to Notre Dame Cathedral under Pierre Cochereau while in Paris. Returning to the United States, Mark became organist for the Boston Symphony and Artist in Residence to the John Hayes Hammond Castle Museum in Gloucester, MA where he played weekly concerts on the largest residence pipe organ in the world. PBS TV did an hour special on Mark and the Castle in 1995.

International Artists Records signed Mark in 1974 and he moved to New York where he took a position as staff arranger for NBC. While at that position he frequently concertized around the world and began recording his now over 30 albums.

Today Mark lives in Kenmore, WA, and serves as Vice President of Tonal Design for Artisan Instruments, Inc. He continues his recording and concert career with solo handbell artist Lynn Andersen. Their home houses two huge organs including a 5 manual pipe/digital classical organ, a 4 manual Theater Organ, three harps including a Lyon and Healy Concert Grand Harp, a two manual custom made Sperrhake harpsichord, a 4 octave set of Schulmerich Handbells and a 5 octave set of Schulmerich Melody Chimes.

Mark is the host for the weekly television show, "Crescendo" which features classical and sacred music. Mark has over 200 works for organ, choir and handbells published to date and frequently tours to present master classes on French Organ Improvisation. Crescendo airs over Time Warner Cable in New York and SCAN in Seattle. The program is also available as a weekly podcast at www.iTunes.com.

Mark's musical compositions have twice won the International Composer's Competition (1976 and 1999) and he has had two prestigious awards granted to him during his career: In 1976 Senator John C. Stennis had the US Flag flown over the Capitol in Washington, D.C. in honor of Mark's contributions to the world of music in America; in 1986 Mark received North Carolina's highest arts award, The North Carolina State Award for Excellence, bestowed by Governor James G. Martin. Dr. Andersen has twice been Dean of the American Guild of Organists for the Oneonta Chapter. The New York Times is quoted "Mark gives life to music" in reviewing his first concert at Carnegie Hall.

In addition to his classical music Mark also loves Theater Organ and has played as a featured organist during the 1970 New York Theater Organ Convention at Radio City Music Hall. He has several theater organ albums recorded and he recorded a video for the Capitol Theater in York, PA. He has also written the musical score for several Off Broadway musicals including "Widow's Waltz", "The Woman They Love to Hate", and "Best Friends."

Howie's Corner

We will be showing the video, “Crescendo, Live At The Capitol Theatre” at our March 9th meeting at the Capitol Theatre. The video was filmed in 2005 at the Capitol Theatre and features Mark Anderson playing the organ. Mark is a very accomplished organist in both classical and theatre organ music and is also the Vice President of tonal design for Artisan Instruments, Inc. In addition to the many selections played by Mark, the video also features a tour of the organ chambers by our own Terry Nace. Terry was the driving force behind the design and installation of the organ and also in the rebuilding and restoration of the instrument. The video is interesting, entertaining and educational and I encourage everyone to come out and see it. There will be an open console after the video.

Our April 6th meeting at the Capitol Theatre will be our first showcase for 2015 and will feature our two youngest members, Connor Ream and Dan Umholtz. Both Connor and Dan have attended the ATOS Summer Youth Adventure for the last several years thanks to the very generous donations of our members to the Scholarship Fund. Both Connor and Dan have very busy schedules as both are currently attending college. More about Connor and Dan in our next “Windline.” We are looking forward to hearing their programs.

We still have two openings for organists at Masonic Village in Elizabethtown, PA. The open dates are: April 14th and June 9th. The programs last about 50 minutes and are played on a 3 manual Allen digital theatre organ in their Health Care Center. If you would like to play for one of these programs please contact Ken Kline at 717-564-7513. The residents and staff always appreciate and look forward to these programs.

Finally a reminder about the 2015 ATOS Convention in Philadelphia. It's not too early to register for the convention. In fact some of the optional events are limited to only 300 people. It's also a good idea to make your hotel reservations as soon as possible. You must be a member of ATOS to attend the convention. Your ATOS membership cost of $50.00 per year includes 6 issues of the “Theatre Organ Journal” plus the right to attend the annual conventions and other events and gives you a discount on your SVTOS membership. It keeps you informed about what's happening in the theatre organ world. For more information about ATOS and the 2015 Convention please check the website at <http://www.atos.org>.
